Another Column of Victrola News

Do you remember when the talking machine was looked upon as a toy?... That was not so many years ago, either.

Contrast that period with the Victrola of to-day. Compare the artists of the early days with the artists who are now making records.

If memory serves us correctly, the late Enrico Caruso was one of the first of the great artists to make records. His recognition of the value of the phonograph did much to prove the minority opinion—that the phonograph was destined to become the most valuable musical instrument of the age.

What has it accomplished? It has enabled thousands of homes to have the world's best music, sung and played by the world's greatest artists—something that no other instrument ever accomplished.

And, think—
A genuine Victrola—a Victrola that will do all of this for you and your home—can be had at $25!

Genuine Victrolas range from $25 to $800. Any model may be purchased here at any time on convenient terms of payment.

About the Piano
Many persons still hold the opinion that piano records are not as well recorded as other records. This is not true. The new piano records are excellent, and you can hear great pianists on the phonograph with a high degree of artistic satisfaction. Sometime when you are near this store, step into the Phonograph Salons and hear these piano records:

POLICE ARREST TRIO AS COUNTERFEITERS

Dollar Bill Raised to $5 and Handed Chauffeur Leads to Exposure.

CONFESSIONS ALLEGED

Fast Working Operators Said to Have Fleeced Public in Many Cities.

A one dollar bill raised to $5, which was handed to a taxicab chauffeur by a fare whom he had been driving for an hour and a half after yesterday morning led to the arrest of three men on the charge of counterfeiting. The arrests were made at a large rooming house at 151 East Twentieth street. The chauffeur, whose name is withheld by the police, identified a man who described himself as John P. McGill, 32, of Philadelphia, as the one who passed the mutilated bill to him. With McGill were taken Harry Shannon, 28, living in "Oklahoma," and Jack Waldorf, 19, who said he is an artist living in "Louisiana, Kentucky."

Detectives August Gilman and David Lambert, who made the arrests, reported that they found fifteen counterfeit bills folded neatly in wallets in the possession of the three. They also said that they found in Waldorf's room half a dozen broken razors, articles of ink pens, green crayons and camel's hair brushes. On the walls hung pictures, cut from old newspapers, and original drawings by Waldorf.

The police say that the chauffeur identified McGill as the man who handed him the bill. In a room adjoining that of McGill were found Shannon and Waldorf. Two automatic pistols were found under their pillows, the detectives reported. The men had been living at the rooming house about six weeks.

At the police station, Waldorf, the police said, made a statement in which he admitted that he raised the bills, while his companions distributed them. The three had "worked" all the large cities, according to the police version of Waldorf's confession, and had been together since leaving Louisville six months ago. The detectives declared that the men admitted having passed from sixty to a hundred of the fake "5" bills in the last week.

Believing that they are on the trail of a counterfeiting organization which may have ramifications in all parts of the country, the police expect to give the prisoners a thorough examination today. They are held in $10,000 bond each and will have their hearing tomorrow in the Yorkville Court.

THIRD INTERNATIONALE APPEALS FOR PEACE

Moscow, Sept. 27 (Associated Press).—The Third Internationale has addressed an appeal to the workers of the world to do everything in their power to prevent the European imperialists, as the appeal expresses it, from plunging southeastern Europe into a new and far reaching war.

The appeal asserts that English imperialism threatens the world with a new war, involving all the Balkan countries. It especially asks the workers of England, France, Jugoslavia and Rumania to use their efforts to force the Entente to cease military preparations.

MILLS GIRL ASKS EDWARDS TO FIND MOTHER'S SLAYER

parted with any securities shortly before his death.

But when he talked of his own attitude Mr. Stricker was quite clear and emphatic. "This case will be handled as any other case," he said. "I have gained all the political honors I want, and I am not going to run for anything. Also so far as money goes, I feel that I could earn a good living practicing law outside of this office and I will leave to the people of the county my attitude toward all criminal cases."

To Exhume Body.

Mrs. Mills was buried a week ago yesterday. To-morrow or perhaps the next day her body will be exhumed in order that, two weeks after her death, it may be determined by the officials whether one bullet or four killed her, whether her throat was cut, whether her ankle was broken and a score of other things that a complete autopsy should have established within a few hours after her body was found.

Prosecutor Beekman tried to make an application to Justice Charles A. Parker of Jersey City for an order to permit the exhumation. He failed to find Parker and to-night went to the Judge's home in Morristown with every expectation of having the order signed. Beekman admits that he and Stricker have agreed that a new autopsy must be made, but he is not clear yet as to when they shall be disinterred.

A special effort is to be made to determine whether any bullets are lodged in the head of Mrs. Mills. The post-mortem examination made by Coroner's Physician Long at Somerville more than a week ago did not determine this point. Long says that but one bullet entered the woman's head, while Dr. E. I. Cronk of this city, who examined the body for Mills, the husband, contends there were three or four. Yet it is probable that Long will be called upon to make a second autopsy.

Mills today denied the story told by Miss Ople, his next door neighbor, that six months ago, in a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. Mills had declared she cared more for Hall's little finger than she did for Mills' whole body. Yesterday Mills said he didn't remember the incident. He says now: "We had little family quarrels just as any other married couples have, but they were never serious, and Dr. Hall's name never figured in them in any way, nor did we ever have the slightest trouble over him."

Mills says he knows of the trip his wife made with Hall to New York, contending his wife went to see a dentist and that Hall accompanied her through kindness. There were a number of these trips, Mills admitted, but the prosecutor's office had information that only one of them was taken for a visit to the dentist.

Ku Klux Klan Active.

Evidence of the existence of an active Ku Klux Klan organization in New Brunswick was unearthed to-night after Prosecutor Stricker admitted that detectives were investigating this clue in the absence of other definite leads.

Neighbors of Mrs. Mills declared to-night that she frequently and sympathetically had discussed the Klan, indicating that the mystic rites had idealistic aims of the organization appealed to her. In this connection investigators following the theory that self-appointed moral censors committed the double murder, called attention to the package of letters Mrs. Mills clutched tightly when she landed in the lonely field near the abandoned Phillips farmhouse and to the worried actions of the clergyman as he followed her.

The minister, the detectives say, might have become angry when the disguised investigators, refusing to accept the proof of the innocence of the pair, insisted that they break off their relations. An alternative followed and the man and woman were killed.

It was learned that a New Brunswick business man socially and politically respected is a high official of the Ku Klux Klan. Also, it was hinted, a young man who was known to have been friendly to Miss Mattie Long, the girl who was killed by the Rev. Mr. Hall and who afterward died—from a broken heart, her friends say—is a klanman.

Prosecutor Stricker to-night showed a letter he received from the Ku Klux Klan on January 6, 1921, in which he was commended for his work in the solution of the Gares murder mystery.

On September 3, 1921, the Klan met in full regalia in a field on the road between Milltown and New Brunswick. At this time a gang of young men raided the meeting. A pitched battle resulted and the gang was driven off.

Indicating that Mrs. Hall was summoned unexpectedly on the night she was killed, her husband said to-day that contrary to previous statements she was not "dressed up" when she left her home.

FRELINGHUYSEN LEADS BY MAJORITY OF 91,763

Carries Every County in Fight Against Record.

With primary returns missing from only a few districts in the State last night, the majority by which Senator Joseph P. Frelinghuysen had defeated his rival, George L. Record, for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate stood at 91,763. His total vote was 178,622 to 86,855 for Record.

The Senator carried every one of the twenty-one counties. Mercer until an early hour yesterday morning showed a lead for Record, but Frelinghuysen outdistanced him even there by about 2,000. The vote was larger than had been expected.

Two Republican Representatives were defeated for re-election. Amos H. Radcliffe in the Seventh District was beaten by George N. Seger, former Mayor of Passaic, by about 800 votes.

The Rev. Warren E. Coon, member of the Assembly and an army chaplain during the war, won the nomination in the Eighth District from Representative Herbert W. Taylor of Newark.

SWEEPING EMBARGO IMPOSED BY LEHIGH

Action Needed to Break Jam
Due to Coal Rush.

In what some called the most drastic prohibition an Eastern carrier ever had to place against freight, the Lehigh Valley Railroad established a four day embargo effective last midnight against shipments of all but so-called "priority" commodities throughout its rail system and connections. The emergency measure was explained as imperative to enable the train service department to break a systematic freight jam produced by the unprecedented anthracite rush.

Excepted commodities, which enjoy mandatory privileges under the Interstate Commerce Commission's Service Order 25, are: Food for human and animal consumption, fuel, livestock, perishables, medicine, mine supplies, newspapers, seeds, petroleum and its products in tank cars and fertilizers.

RESOLUTE WEATHERS STORM.

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 27.—The American steamship Resolute arrived here to-night from New York sixteen hours late. During the voyage the steamship ran into a northwesterly storm. The wind velocity was 100 miles an hour and forced the Resolute to heave to Sunday and Monday.

NEW IS SLATED FOR PHILIPPINES POST

Indiana Senator Probable Successor to Wood as Governor-General.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.

Senator Harry S. New of Indiana will be named by President Harding Governor-General of the Philippines Islands as the successor to Major-General Leonard Wood, according to reports in official circles here.

The President is strongly inclined to appoint Senator New to the post since the receipt of a petition signed by many leaders in the islands at the White House protesting against the appointment of a "military governor."

The petition came as a surprise. The impression here is that it was inspired largely by the belief that a less rigid rule would more certainly prove to the American people that the Filipinos are capable of self-rule.

Senator New is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, in which he held a commission.

It is probable that if Senator New is named he will retain his seat in the Senate until the expiration of his term on March 4 next.

KASTEL'S SECRETARY ARRESTED IN FRAUD

transaction was immediately bucketed, and the stock was sold without the authority or knowledge of Mr. Shaul.

The contention in the court in Montgomery county, therefore, will be that the intent of the defendants was to steal Mr. Shaul's money and that such intent was actually executed in Montgomery county when the bank at Amsterdam complied with the demand for the transfer of the money, thus placing the commission of the alleged crime in Montgomery county, where, it is contended, the money was obtained, and not in New York county, where, it is alleged, the stock was unlawfully sold and the proceeds kept. The purchase of the stock, the contention is, was not in good faith, but made merely to conceal an alleged crime already committed in Montgomery county.

It is anticipated that the defense will fight the case on that point, and if a conviction is obtained will carry the point to the higher courts for a decision.

MRS. LEBAUDY MUST PAY NOTE.

Judgment was rendered yesterday against Marguerite A. Lebaudy, widow of Jacques Lebaudy, for $41,923, alleged to be due upon a note payable to the National Nassau Bank. The papers state that Mme. Lebaudy has residences in Jamaica and Westbury, L. I., and for the last six months has been in France.
